My experience at OLLC, or Ohio Legislative Leadership Conference, was one that I will never forget. At the conference our chapter got to sit and chat with a bunch of the surrounding chapters, as well as chapters from all over Ohio. We did a lobbying activity, which was our main activity that we did a majority of our time there. Our group had to convince the groups who played legislators not to sign a bill. We had only a few minutes to prepare and give reasons as to why they should not sign the bill. We succeeded in our task. At the end we had talked with about 12 different groups and convinced them not to sign the bill. It was a great activity that allowed us to see how our representatives fight for us in agriculture everyday. They served us food, which was appreciated and we even got to talk with one of our representatives. Overall it was a good day that taught us all a lot.
